THE [illegible] OF ANDREW JOHNSON.—Fr[illegible] of April [illegible] we take the following:

There can be but little doubt left in the minds of those who have attentively perused the details [illegible] to assassinate the leaders of the [illegible] that Andrew Johnson, who has [illegible] for his singular aberration on the 4th of March, was on that occasion under the influence, not of spirituous liquors [illegible] other [illegible] disturbing drug, intended [illegible] to disfigure him, but of a deadly poison [illegible] insinuated in his drink with the view [illegible] It is now proved that the assassins [illegible] perpetrated [illegible] the 4th of March, and that Booth, the chief assassin, had [illegible] himself in a position where Lincoln must [illegible] and it was doubtless expected that about the time when the President would have [illegible] the new Vice President [illegible] would have expired in the Capitol from the effects of the poison he had taken. Probably this view of the matter has never struck the mind of Johnson, and it is not to be supposed that, under the mystery of that strange occurrence, which must have puzzled him more than anybody else, he would care to allude to the affair with any attempt at explanation that might have been misunderstood. The disclosure of the instructions [illegible] among the assassins that they were at liberty to use the blade, the pistol or the bowl [illegible] they must bear in mind the latter had once failed, seems to be conclusive upon this point, and will doubtless suggest important recollections [illegible] President's mind. His powerful nature triumphed over the infernal draught, and thus [illegible] an invaluable life being saved to the nation we are gratified in the conviction, that [illegible] has always been a sober, self-respecting statesman, is now providentially relieved from [illegible] passing cloud on his career.

CAN TAKE CARE OF HIMSELF.—In a recent speech Ex-Governor Wright, of Indiana, spoke as follows:

As to the cant about the negro's ability to take care of himself he had these facts to relate, and he would do so without comment. In 1862, the rebel Legislature of South Carolina raised a committee to inquire into the expediency of enslaving the five thousand free negroes of Charleston. That committee reported against it, and stated that those five thousand free negroes paid into the treasury of Charleston annually twenty-seven thousand dollars, and that their property amounted to one million five hundred thousand dollars. Out of that amount of property, three hundred thousand dollars of it was composed of slaves. That the nine thousand free negroes of New Orleans in 1860 were worth as much per capita as the white people of Louisiana; that these free negroes had their own schools, their own benevolent societies, etc. These facts he contended proved that the free negro was capable of taking care of himself. He also stated that a lady who owned five hundred negroes in 1860 told him that she had lost them all but two hundred by the beginning of 1863. That year she made a contract with them to cultivate her farm on the shares, and that last year, under such a system, where the negro was working for himself as well as for his mistress, the two hundred made her more money than five hundred had done in slavery.

"THAT IS WHAT I HAVE TO SAY."—At a late public meeting held in Hartford, Connecticut, to pay honor to the memory of the deceased President, Rev. Professor Stowe, one of the speakers, made the following expressive remarks, which were much applauded:

For twenty-five years there was in the heart of the people the belief that the institution of slavery was a blight upon our national character, yet public men were sensitive upon the subject, and could not be made to speak out against the crime. They have now been brought to see it. We are all inclined to be as favorable as possible toward those who have brought this disaster upon us; President Lincoln himself was inclined to be as favorable as possible toward them, and the people appeared to be willing that he should be lenient; but now that this brutal murder has been committed there is a determination in the hearts of the people that not a man who has aided to bring it about shall ever be known again as a ruler. Let our public men remember this, because it is as necessary as that slavery, the cause of our mourning, shall die. Those who brought on this unnatural war I say shall not—not a man of them—be heard of in our government from this day henceforth forever. That is what I have to say.

A GIFT TO THE WIDOW OF LINCOLN.—The cities of Boston and New York are already moving in the matter of making some suitable endowment upon the Lincoln family. It is being proposed that $100,000 be raised in each city. As the liberality of the two great commercial marts of the country is established, it is equally sure that the sums proposed will be speedily forthcoming. As intimated in a former part of the correspondence, the late President left but little of this world's goods for his family, and for them now to be suddenly hurled from the comforts and luxuries of a home at the White House to an obscure position, where the pecuniary means of existence would be an occasion of daily anxiety, would not be agreeable to the feelings of our generous and noble-hearted people, who will love the Lincoln family for the sake of him who loved them so well, and who was removed from their embrace while in the service of the country. Monumental marbles and costly statues may serve hereafter to keep his memory more constantly in the hearts of the people, but the most grateful offering to his manes, I am sure, would be a gift of the people to the family of the people's President, and may God ever bless the fatherless children of him who was so pre-eminently the father of those whose natural protectors have borne the battle.—*Cor. Montana—Its Resources

We are led to believe that few of our readers have given the subject of this article that attention which it deserves. The discoveries of the past two years give that Territory a great importance. The relation it bears to Oregon and to the trade of the Columbia river, is worthy of attentive consideration. For a considerable time past our means and energies have been applied to the development of the rich mines of Idaho but we should not overlook the fact that the entire trade of Montana west of the Rocky Mountains including that of Prickly Pear valley, Deer Lodge &c is entirely within our reach. There may be a single exception in the article of flour which can we think, be at present supplied at less rates from Salt Lake, than from the Columbia river. This however, is of small consequence to us as the time will soon come when Montana will be able to supply itself with this article.

The present population of Montana is not less than thirty thousand. A census taken last October shows that Madison county, (which includes Virginia City) then contained fifteen thousand inhabitants. From a person just returned from there by way of Fort Hall, we learn that he met not less than three or four hundred going in most of whom were from Nevada.

Several bands of cattle have been driven from Oregon to the mines beyond the Rocky Mountains. This is the only advantage which we have so far, derived from the trade of that Territory. Perhaps a few small pack trains have crossed over from this side, but they have carried no goods of consequence. That country has procured flour at Salt Lake, hauling it a distance of four or five hundred miles. Other supplies have been shipped up the Missouri and Yellowstone rivers from St Louis at a cost of twenty cents per pound in gold. The distance from Lewiston over the Mullan road to Hell Gate, is but three hundred and fifteen miles, and freight can be hauled from one point to the other for eight cents per pound. The present rates from Portland to Lewiston are four and a half cents. An increased trade would materially reduce those last named prices. Even now, goods can be laid down at Hell Gate for twelve and a half cents per pound, against twenty cents by way of the Missouri river. Freights need be no higher from New York to San Francisco than from New York to St Louis. We believe, too that freight can be shipped from San Francisco to the different mining camps of Montana, west of the Rocky mountains, at prices not exceeding 11½ to 12 cents per pound. Navigation on the Missouri is attended with many difficulties and much uncertainty. Steamers cannot ascend that stream in the fall while freight carried up the Columbia river can be hauled over the Bitter Root mountains as late as October. For the past two years St Louis has had many advantages in regard to this trade, on account of the differences between coin and currency, but hereafter we shall be better able to compete with the East on that score.

The last legislature of Idaho granted a charter for a wagon road to a point east of the Bitter Root mountains. This road passes by way of Elk City over a route entirely practicable, and one hundred and fifty miles shorter than the former one. The Mullan road is now much obstructed with fallen timber. Some of the bridges have also been carried away. It is believed by parties who have recently traveled this road that $5,000 would put it in good repair. It is accessible from Wallula, White Bluffs, Palouse or Lewiston, and passes directly through the Coeur d'Alene country. This last district promises soon to become a place of great importance and to form a connecting link in the chain of gold discoveries which extends from Cariboo and Kootenai on the North to Boise and Owyhee on the South.

In connection with the facts we have mentioned and to which we would call attention, we suggest that it would be well for our merchants and for parties navigating the Columbia river to take measures to remove the timber and repair the bridges on the Mullan road. A small expenditure of money for the purposes indicated, would meet with ample returns. If trade is to grow into activity, enterprise must lead the way. The suggestions here made are commended to all who are interested in the trade of Oregon and in the commerce, by way of the Columbia river, with the northern mines.

Wool Growers' Convention

A convention of wool growers and those interested in that branch of husbandry assembled at Salem on Thursday of last week and continued in session until the afternoon following day. The action taken by the convention will be of very great interest not only to the wool growers of Oregon but also to those who are anxiously watching the commercial development of this State. The object of the convention was to take initiatory steps toward ascertaining how it would best accord with the interests of wool growers to dispose of their wool, and also to take some measures to provide for making shipments directly to the East, so as to avoid both the embarrassments of a limited home market and the inconvenience and loss attendant upon shipping Oregon wool to California there to be mixed with the inferior grades produced in that State. The meeting was attended by persons from several counties. Only a verbal report of its proceedings has yet reached us. But from what we already know, we think we are justified in saying that the results of the meeting will do much to advance the interests of wool growers by placing them in such a situation that they will be no longer in the power of those who have hitherto had the wool trade of Oregon wholly in their own hands and who have abused that power by compelling parties to receive for their wool what prices they might choose to pay.

The convention appointed a committee of five with instructions to compute the probable cost of grading, baling and shipping wool from this point to the East and to report the results of their investigations. It was estimated that eight cents per pound would cover the whole charges including five per cent on the gross sales. The members of the convention pledged themselves not to take less than twenty five cents per pound for their wool. Those present promised to furnish twenty thousand pounds for shipment to the East. It was agreed to ship through Knapp, Burrell & Co., of this city, they undertaking to advance ten per cent on the value of the wool. On Friday a permanent organization was entered into to be called the "Wool Grower's Association." Correspondence is to be had with parties in various portions of the State and there is to be an endeavor to engage the co-operation of all who have an interest in aiding this important branch of our economy and trade.

From data made up by members of the convention, it appears that the present surplus of wool in Oregon is [illegible] than [illegible] pounds. This is the estimate [illegible] after [illegible] all deductions for what can be manufactured here. After allowing the various mills of the State a sufficiency of material to enable them to run until next year we shall still have a large amount of wool [illegible]. This we are persuaded, can be disposed of to the best advantage by adopting the course suggested by the late convention at Salem.

We hope to see this [illegible] properly rendered [illegible] in the [illegible] State. They have [illegible] market which they have hitherto [illegible]. The attention [illegible] commercial transactions with the East is [illegible] new scheme. An opportunity is now [illegible] take the initiative in establishing a direct trade with the Atlantic ports—an enterprise that must be started if Oregon is ever to prosper.

THE NEW CONSTITUTION OF MISSOURI.—The following are the prominent features of the new Constitution of Missouri. It will be seen that it is unmistakably explicit on those points concerning which there has been so much dispute in every State during many years. The new Constitution of Missouri affirms that every citizen owes a paramount allegiance to the United States. The strange heresy of State rights, as recently interpreted—a thing which was not dreamed of when the National Constitution was adopted—renders this explicit exposition necessary. The people of Missouri are to vote on the adoption of the Constitution on the 6th of the present month. If adopted it will go into effect July 4th.

The Constitution, in its first sentence recognizes our dependence as a people upon Almighty God, the Sovereign Ruler of Nations, for our State Government, our liberties and our connection with the American Union.

It declares Missouri a free State forever.

It establishes the equality of all men before the law.

It prohibits legislation interfering with the personal rights of men on account of their color.

It declares that Missouri shall ever remain a member of the American Union.

It asserts the paramount allegiance of every citizen of Missouri to the Constitution and Government of the United States.

It excludes from the ballot box and from office traitors, rebels, rebel sympathizers, guerilla marauders, bushwhackers and their aiders and abettors.

It in like manner, excludes Knights of the Golden Circle, Sons of Liberty and O. A. K. s.

It in a like manner excludes those who fled from the State to escape the draft.

It in a like manner, excludes those who enrolled themselves as disloyal or as Southern sympathizers, to avoid militia duty.

It provides for an efficient registration of voters thereby securing the exclusion of illegal votes.

It removes the rule requiring treason to be proved by at least two witnesses, and leaves it to be proved as any other crime.

It secures an efficient system of common schools for the free education of children of the State.

It forbids the Legislature making compensation for emancipated slaves.

It invites emigration from Europe by extending the elective franchise to those persons of foreign birth who have, more than one year before an election, declared their intention, according to law, to become citizens of the United States.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON AND THE BRITISH MINISTER.—The telegraph sometime ago gave the set speeches which passed between the President and the new British Minister, but the following account from the correspondence of the Cincinnati Gazette is more interesting and suggestive:

Sir Frederick Bruce's interview with President Johnson to-day was as informal and as undiplomatic as President Lincoln himself could have made it. This new Minister made his appearance with all his stars and decorations on, presented his credentials and formally read his speech. Mr Johnson replied, saying that he was glad to see him and to welcome to the Capital a representative of Great Britain, and then added: "But sir I am not much used to the diplomatic formalities customary in such cases. My idea is simply that two great nations ought to conduct their relations very much as two neighbors who sincerely desire peace and good fellowship between themselves would do, and the less mere formalities the better." "I assure you Mr President," interrupted Sir Frederick, pointing to his uniform and decoration, "that I should feel very much more at ease without these things than with them."

The remark was so thoroughly English and at the same time so consonant to American prejudice against fuss and feathers, that the President and Minister became friends at once and sat down for a chat. Sir Frederick asked about Sherman. President Johnson explained the position. "What chance is there for Mr Davis then?" asked Sir Frederick. "Oh a small particle still—doubtless his escape out of the country," said the President. "Well," replied the Minister, in an inquiring tone, "I should think that Mr Davis and a few members of his Cabinet would probably find it well to start pretty soon." "If they know what is for their own interest," responded the President rather grimly, "they had better lose no time about it. The time has come," he added, "when traitors must be taught that they are criminals. The country has clearly made up its mind on that point, and it can find no more earnest agent of its will than myself." There was then a renewal of the mutual promise to talk over any difficulties that might arise between Great Britain and the United States like two neighbors sincerely desirous of good terms with each other, and so the interview ended.

THE REPORT FOR EUROPE.—A prominent English shipping house in New York sent out its usual trade circular to the former country and in alluding therein to recent events in a manner which does credit to the goodness of those who are the real friends of our people adds:

Tuesday, April 18.—The last three days have been the saddest in all American history. One of the purest, wisest, most magnanimous and most amiable men ever placed at the head of our Government has fallen by the hand of an assassin. No sovereign or chief magistrate was ever so loved or trusted. The consternation and anguish of the whole people could scarcely be greater if every family in the nation had in one night lost its dearest member. Since the President's death business has been neglected and almost forgotten. With the sorrow of the people is mingled intense indignation and much bitterness toward all in any way connected with the crime. Nearly twenty years ago the writer heard one of the most accomplished men in Mississippi predict that Jeff Davis would yet be hung. The same gentleman repeated the prediction on his death bed. As the case stands now he has a very fair chance of being classed among the [illegible] prophets.

So far no evil effect has shown itself, either political or financial. The institutional machinery is so simple and withal so nearly perfect that even the assassination scarcely jars it. Great as the national loss is, there can be little doubt but the accession of the new President will greatly expedite a final settlement. The assassination piles up a load of infamy under which no cause could live a moment. The South is not in a condition to offer any armed resistance worthy of the name and they know President Johnson too well to presume in the least upon his good nature or feebleness of purpose. The rebel leaders will either make their peace with the Government or fly the country. The whole South will probably be open to trade in thirty to sixty days.

SEWARD AND CHASE.—A correspondent of a Boston paper writing from Washington thus speaks of an interview which took place between Mr Seward and General Grant a few days after the horrible tragedy at the last named city:

The Sewards are improving—so the physicians state, but I still have strong fears that neither will recover. General Grant had a most affecting interview with Mr Seward yesterday. The Secretary grasped the General's hand with great emotion and exclaimed, "Thank God, General Grant, you are alive!" The General, who is so stoical and self-possessed, broke down completely. The sight was a shocking one, for the two dreadful gashes on each side of his face so disfigure the great statesman that his old friends can scarcely recognize him. The eye alone is as it was—clear and bright. Yet crushed and maimed as he is, Mr Seward is already at his work. He is suggesting to Mr Hunter what course to pursue and the general principles to be applied in his despatches.

An attempt has been made to have an acting Secretary appointed—a man of prominence and character—but it is likely to fall through. The feeling in all circles is that if Mr Seward can recover in three months, his place should not be filled. A man who has come so near martyrdom should be treated with the utmost respect by the President, and we may be sure that he will be

SALT LAKE CITY, May 2[illegible] [illegible]—The eastern line is working as far as Fort Laramie. The trouble beyond (the recent storms and high water). The wire crossings of the Platte and other rivers are [illegible]. We expect to have communication with Chicago every moment.

The Pacific Mail Steamship Company's steamer Golden City sailed for Panama this morning, carrying 550 passengers and treasure as follows: To New York $1,[illegible]; to England $[illegible]; to Panama $20,000.

The Gould and Curry silver mining company have to-day declared a dividend of $50 per foot.

The military guard has been withdrawn from the office of the Democratic Press, and the contents restored to the owners. A new paper is to be published in a few days by the Press proprietors under the name of the Examiner. It is understood that B. F. Washington will be its editor. It is said that Beriah Brown, late editor of the Press, contemplates emigrating to Mexico.

MARKETS.—Flour—there is a lively jobbing trade, the sales including Oregon at 12@11 for superfine and extra and local mills at current prices. Further sales of Chili for export are understood to be pending. Wheat—sales of 2,00 sks of Hay at 4½ per lb is all we have to report. Barley—sales of 2,000 sks Bay in lots 1 0@1 02½ including very choice brewing, 1 75 the latter an extreme price, also, 450 sks new from Laguna, the first of the season, 125 per 100 lbs. Potatoes—100 sks Puget Sound sold at 3 10@3 12½. New are worth 4@4½ per 100 lbs. Wool—sales of 17,000 lbs medium 20@22 per lb.

No arrivals to-day.

NEW WESTMINSTER, June 3.—The steamer Enterprise arrived last night from Victoria. The following is from the Colonist:

His Excellency the Governor sent a message to the House of Assembly yesterday announcing that he had received a proposition from the Royal West India Mail Company to place a direct line of steamers between Panama and these Colonies. The company propose to convey emigrants at very moderate rates. The general terms offered are of a most favorable nature. The House will take the proposition into consideration on Monday.

Mr Carswell had been discovered in the swamps. He was very much reduced having been out six nights.

The following is from the Chronicle:

There are now due at this port six vessels, viz: Three ships from New York, now out nearly two hundred days, with telegraph material. Two China vessels loaded with Coolies—ships from London.

Business at Yale is very brisk. For some time the number of stock arrivals leaving, in addition to freight wagons, average two hundred per day. The roads are in excellent condition and freight going forward at a rate hitherto unknown.

The Indian convict who escaped from the chain gang a few days ago is with his tribe at Chilliwack. He declares that he will shoot the first officer that attempts to arrest him.

The amount of gold assayed here during the present week is a trifle less than seven thousand ounces.

Weather continues cloudy. Thermometer 60° in the shade.

CHARLESTON.—The Charleston correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer, speaking of things in that city which was the cradle of secession, says:

Since our forces occupied the city, things have put on a changed aspect. At first the inhabitants were very shy of showing themselves, having imbibed the foolish idea from the rebels that our soldiers would cut them to pieces if they should venture into the streets.

They soon discovered the falsity of this opinion, and learned to look upon the Yankees as at least human.

It must not be understood, however, that the citizens are all loyal. They have to unlearn the teachings of four years, and we may say of a life time, a task not easily or soon accomplished. As I have previously intimated, very few of the wealthy portion of the citizens remained. Indeed the majority of them had left the city as far back as the time when our forces began to shell it.

There are, perhaps, more numerous shades of color here than in any other part of the South, except New Orleans. A stranger would find it difficult to distinguish some of the colored women from the whites, so nearly have they approached to the features and color of the domestic race. Before the war there was an ordinance of the city of Charleston which made it a punishable offense for a woman having the slightest trace of colored blood in her veins to wear a veil or to walk on a certain side of the main street of the city.

The grave of Calhoun, the great Secessionist, is now in possession of the Yankees. Although accessible to all visitors, there has been no desecration of the tombstone nor any disturbing of the surroundings. In a bold hand, in pencil, some visitor has inscribed the following: "A Massachusetts man and an abolitionist abhors the desecration of the tomb," and in another place: "Respect ourselves, if we do not him who lies beneath this tomb."

BENJAMIN'S ALLEGORY.—"Those who prate of and strive to dissolve this glorious confederacy of States, are like those silly savages who let fly their arrows at the sun in the vain hope of piercing it. And still the sun rolls on, unheeding, in its eternal pathway, shedding light and animation upon all the world."

In a speech made in San Francisco in 1860 these words were spoken by Judah P. Benjamin. Two or three months after, he deserted these principles, abandoned his country and entered into a combination to overthrow the Union for which he had plead so earnestly. These leading traitors never were possessed of any true integrity. As enemies of the country, they attempted to disarm suspicion by an appearance of fidelity, just as any other murderers would have done, until an opportunity offered to strike the final blow. Benjamin is a traitor and an outcast, and his conduct has been like that of the "silly savages" of whom he speaks. "The glorious Union is not dissolved, and still the sun rolls on."

DO YOU THINK IT WOULD BE ADvisable to inform the trading public that SHELBY is SELLING HIS FINE STOCK OF BOOTS AND SHOES AT SAN FRANCISCO COST PRICES? An ocular demonstration will convince you that his Stock is Full and Complete. Therefore, we think that your interest would be consulted by making a personal examination for yourselves.

U. S. 7-30 LOAN!

BY AUTHORITY OF THE SECRETARY OF THE Treasury, the undersigned has assumed the General Subscription Agency for the sale of United States Treasury Notes, bearing seven and three-tenths per cent interest per annum, known as the SEVEN-THIRTY LOAN.

These Notes are issued under date June 15th, 1865 and are payable three years from that time, in currency, or are convertible at the option of the holder into

U S 5-20 Six per cent.
Gold Bearing Bonds.

These bonds are now worth a premium of nine per cent, including gold interest from Nov., which makes the actual profit on the 7-30 loan, at current rates, including interest, about ten per cent per annum, besides its EXEMPTION FROM STATE AND MUNICIPAL TAXATION, which adds from one to three per cent more, according to the rate levied on other property. The interest is payable semi-annually by coupons attached to each note, which may be cut off and sold to any bank or banker.

The interest amounts to

One cent per day on a	$50	note.
Two cents " "	$100	"
Ten " "	$500	"
20 " "	$1000	"
$1 " "	$5000	"

Notes of all the denominations named will be promptly furnished upon receipt of subscriptions. This is now offered by the Government, and it is confidently expected that its superior advantages will make it the

GREAT POPULAR LOAN
Of the People!

Less than [illegible] millions remain unsold, which will probably be disposed of within the next [illegible] days, when the notes will undoubtedly command a premium, as has uniformly been the case on closing the subscriptions to other Loans.

In order that citizens of every town and section of the country may be afforded facilities for taking the loan, the National Banks, State Banks and Private Banks throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions at par. Subscribers will select their own agents, in whom they have confidence, and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes for which they receive orders.

Subscription Agent, Philadelphia.

THE FIFTH INDUSTRIAL FAIR
OF THE
MECHANICS' INSTITUTE,
Of San Francisco,
TO BE HELD IN AUGUST, 1865.

THE MECHANICS' INSTITUTE HAVING DETERmined to hold their Fifth Industrial Fair during the coming season, the [illegible] would respectfully invite all persons desirous of exhibiting Machines, Manufactures, Agricultural Products, Mineral Ores and Works of Art, to make application immediately, in order that the proper space may be allotted them.

The exhibition will be opened to the public on THURSDAY, the 10th day of August, at 10 o'clock a. m.

The Pavilion will be open for the reception of goods from the 28th of July to the 3d of August. Agricultural and horticultural products will be received until the day of opening.

The several transportation companies, as on former occasions, have, with commendable liberality, consented to transport articles intended exclusively for exhibition free of charges, and Messrs. Wells, Fargo & Co. in like manner, will take charge of them.

All articles forwarded should be labeled "For the Industrial Exhibition, San Francisco."

All communications should be addressed to C. [illegible] HIGGINS, Corresponding Secretary.

Loan Society.—We learn that it is [illegible] to start a Savings and Loan Society at this [illegible] leading citizens have agreed the [illegible] to engage in it. Similar societies have [illegible] elsewhere and the best results have always [illegible] suggested that the main features of [illegible] something like the following: Deposits [illegible] payment of an entrance fee of say $2 [illegible] the by-laws [illegible] together say $5 [illegible] any deposit and from that time [illegible] When any depositor [illegible] entitled to vote in the society, and one [illegible] additional $100 [illegible] money he may have on deposit to be paid [illegible] all who may be sent with the week [illegible] depositors [illegible] the funds [illegible] thereby [illegible] Society shall be [illegible] paid at stated periods [illegible] the security of real estate [illegible] Society interested [illegible] one per cent [illegible] the option of the borrower [illegible] longer period than, say four years. [illegible] that a society established [illegible] like this would benefit [illegible] itself to the working classes [illegible] of small means, and might [illegible] expenditure of money [illegible] their weekly labor [illegible] We hope to see the project of organizing [illegible] In other places the good [illegible] character are very [illegible] from the Monetary [illegible] of San Francisco [illegible] Loan Society [illegible] in the memory of the oldest [illegible] so many new houses [illegible] Francisco as in this present [illegible] degree [illegible] dwellings in the [illegible] the California Building and Loan Society [illegible] from the officers of that institution [illegible] average one new house every day. This [illegible] of the working classes [illegible] has produced a very decided [illegible] of houses, and to greater degree [illegible] who hitherto had all pretty [illegible] A little while ago [illegible] to live in; but the building society [illegible] Secretary Thomas Mooney, have [illegible] classes how to get homes of their own [illegible] the wealth and capital of the working [illegible] to effect their own deliverance from landlords. We give applause to these practical benefits for the people without [illegible] that market-place, or [illegible] for the [illegible]

[illegible] Jack."—This [illegible] was captured lately at Victoria [illegible] hands of Sheriff Stitzel of this city and after [illegible] en route to Idaho. It seems has at [illegible] and fate, and in a manner much [illegible] than had he been content to receive his [illegible] legally constituted authorities of the land. [illegible] of the 10th ult., has the [illegible] A naked body was recently [illegible] river just above Wallula, which was [illegible] been that of "Bricky Jack," [illegible] escaped from custody some weeks ago, [illegible] Walla Walla. It certainly must be the [illegible] ever found, and when fully and practically [illegible] will exhibit a mine of wealth for every inch. [illegible] specimens in such a land. These new developments [illegible] show what unparalleled riches abounds in [illegible] Country. There is no lack of the precious [illegible] discoveries are being made nearly every day [illegible] already know of enough to make the country [illegible]

[illegible] Escape.—A gentleman present at the great [illegible] in Idaho recently, recounts an adventure [illegible] within the range of hair-breadth escapes as [illegible] should be well settled. He had a favorite dog [illegible] about to be enveloped in the flames, and wrap[illegible] blanket started in to rescue the [illegible] He succeeded, and both escaped from [illegible] of suffocation by about the 49th part of [illegible] was met with applause upon joining his [illegible] still bears the marks of the excessive heat [illegible] the fire having scorched through blanket [illegible] and under garments, burning the flesh.

[illegible] Idaho City.—We learn from Mr S Strauss, [illegible] lately arrived from Idaho City, that the Editor [illegible] had been wounded by a pistol shot [illegible] hand of John M. Murphy, County Auditor [illegible] grew out of the refusal of the former to [illegible] made in relation to the pub[illegible] of the latter. Murphy gave himself up to the [illegible] examination. At the time of the fire in [illegible] was shot while endeavoring to steal [illegible] forty others are under arrest for [illegible] crime.

[illegible] of Estate.—The property disposed of on Sat[illegible] brought the following prices at auction [illegible] B. Richardson. Lots 3 and 4, neatly [illegible] house, orchard, cistern, etc., upon the [illegible] first sold for $1,500. Lots 1 and 2 with [illegible] orchard and other appurtenances [illegible] Lots 7 and 8, with a comfortable cottage [illegible] garden, etc., sold for $1,900. Lots 5 and [illegible] stable and orchard, sold at $1,000. It [illegible] and sold cheap.

[illegible] Torrent.—On Saturday last the torrents of [illegible] at the Cascades swept away the wharf boat [illegible] Company which was moored at that place [illegible] above the railroad bridge, at the slough [illegible] The boat came down at a fearful rate striking [illegible] where it was totally wrecked and floated off [illegible] done to the bridge was slight.

[illegible] Deer.—The employees of the steamer Wilson [illegible] Saturday last caught a deer which had swam [illegible] from the Oregon side, while the boat lay at the [illegible] the cargo. It was so poor that no [illegible] to make venison of it, and it was all wed [illegible] a subsistence for [illegible] taking the [illegible] the late Steamship for its foraging department

[illegible]—A child about four years of age was drown[illegible] into a barrel of water which was standing in [illegible] yard of its parents' residence on First street in [illegible] Ward of the city on Saturday [illegible] not learn the name of the little unfortunate.

[illegible] Lost.—On Saturday last Mrs. [illegible] lost a Port-monnaie containing [illegible] legal [illegible] a $5 gold piece and some silver change [illegible] near the City of Paris dry goods store [illegible] and the Post Office on Front street. The finder will be [illegible] rewarded by leaving it at this office.

[illegible] —Wilson [illegible] arrived in the city yesterday [illegible] troupe, arrived in the city yesterday [illegible] the interior. They perform at Stark's [illegible] Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express office, to-night

[illegible] the Columbia.—Capt. Strang informs us that [illegible] of drift wood is still afloat in the Columbia [illegible] The water is now at a stand, having risen none [illegible] Friday

[illegible] The steamer John H. Couch arrived on Saturday [illegible] bringing the [illegible] with a cargo of 100 tons of coal from Nanaimo [illegible] Gas Light Company.

[illegible] Resting Place of the Dead.—A [illegible] from Springfield says: [illegible] has been much discussed for the past [illegible] days over the selection of the final [illegible] of president Lincoln's remains. Several [illegible] were under consideration, each of [illegible] partisans, and the committee were [illegible] petitions and counter petitions in [illegible] or the other of these. The popular [illegible] to be in favor of the Mather place [illegible] and highly improved locality, only [illegible] from the public square, and the com[illegible] finally concluded to purchase this [illegible] it can be had for $50,000. [illegible] eight acres, all of which is covered by [illegible] trees, and offers fine facilities for ornament[illegible] This site will probably be purchased.

[illegible] of Working Men.—From nearly all [illegible] mining camps we have reliable information [illegible] is great scarcity of working men. Our race are subject to a redundancy of vitiated bile at this season, and it is as dangerous as it is prevalent, but Brandreth's Pills afford an invaluable and efficient protection. By their occasional use we prevent the collection of those impurities which, when in sufficient quantities, cause so much danger to the body's health. THE FLORENCE
Sewing Machines

ARE NOW UNIVERSALLY ACKNOWLEDGED TO BE BY FAR

THE MOST SIMPLY CONSTRUCTED

Easily Managed,

HANDSOMELY FURNISHED

and Durable

FAMILY SEWING MACHINE,
NOW IN USE.

Possessing the Most Desirable Points of all other First-Class Machines, it Surpasses them by the Simplicity of its Construction, and the Ease and Facility with which it Performs a Greater Variety of Work than all other Machines Combined.

IT HEMS, FELLS, GATHERS, BRAIDS, QUILTS, and Gathers and Sews on a Ruffle at the same time. We claim for the Florence the following advantages over any and all Sewing Machines:

☞ It makes four different stitches, the lock, knot, double lock and double knot, on one and the same Machine. Each stitch being alike on both sides of the fabric.

☞ It has the reversible feed motion, which enables the operator, by simply turning a thumb-screw, to have the work run either to the right or left, to stay any part of the seam, or fasten the ends of seams without turning the fabric.

☞ Changing the length of stitch, and from one kind of stitch to another can readily be done while the Machine is in motion.

☞ Every stitch is perfect in itself, making the seam secure and uniform.

☞ It is almost noiseless and can be used where quiet is necessary.

☞ Its motions are all positive; there are no springs to get out of order, and its simplicity enables the most inexperienced to operate it.

☞ It will not oil the dress of the operator, as all the machinery is on the top of the table.

☞ It is the most rapid sewer in the world, making five stitches to each revolution.

☞ Best of all is the wonder of all, because of its economy [illegible] elasticity, strength and beauty.

☞ It does the heaviest or finest work with equal facility, without change of tension or machinery.

☞ Every Machine has one of Jenck's patent hemmers attached (the right to use which we control), enabling the operator to turn any width of hem desired.

☞ There is no other Machine which will do so large a range of work as the Florence.

☞ It uses the pure finer thread on the under side than it does for the upper.

☞ The needle is more easily adjusted than in any other Machine.

☞ It will sew across the heaviest seams, or from one to the thinnest [illegible] of cloth, without change of tension or breaking of thread.

☞ It is fully protected and licensed by Elias Howe and his Associates, and our own Letters Patent.

☞ To avoid the strain on the eyes, bent posture, close application and fatiguing care, heretofore necessary on a large portion of work done on Sewing Machines, we furnish each Machine with a "Barnum's Self Sewer," which guides the work itself, and is of inestimable value, especially to inexperienced operators.

☞ While possessing the above and many other advantages, the FLORENCE is sold at corresponding prices with other first-class Machines.

☞ We refrain from publishing the highly complimentary notices of the Press with which we have been favored, and place our Machine before the public, believing that an intelligent examination of its merits will fully substantiate all that we have claimed for it, and justify the assertion we now make, that it is the best Sewing Machine in the world.

☞ We Warrant every Machine to be all that we claim for it, and will give a written warranty if required.

☞ Agents wanted in all the principal cities and towns on the Pacific Coast. With a small investment of capital a profitable business can soon be established.

☞ For Circulars and Samples of Sewing, address

It is the most simple in its construction and can be more easily learned than any other machine claiming to be first class.

It can be learned perfectly in a few minutes, and without taking lessons.

It sews from the original spools, and requires no winding of thread on bobbins or shuttles, and has a perfect tension on both upper and under threads.

It will sew any material from tissue paper to eight thicknesses of heavy ticking or harness leather, without change of tension.

It is the only machine that makes the Double Lock Stitch, each stitch being independent of its neighbor, and will not rip by cutting every fourth stitch.

It will stitch, gather, hem, fell, cord, braid, and besides doing all the work that any other machine can do, it stands without a competitor in fancy and ornamental work.

It is the only machine that will embroider, making the braid and sewing it on at the same time.

It will gather and sew on at the same time with greater ease and regularity than any other machine.

It makes a stitch that possesses more elasticity than any other, and is the only one that is reliable in sewing flannel or any goods of a loose fabric.

A Ch[illegible] of Secret History

[illegible] the letters of the [illegible] Richmond [illegible] Virginia [illegible] Virginia Legislature [illegible] Mr Lincoln will [illegible] it will doubtless all [illegible] held.

C[illegible] arguments for this course was made [illegible] The President was actuated [illegible]

[illegible] within any person whatever or advising [illegible] of its contents, he sent this document on [illegible] by Weitzel by a United States senator [illegible] on the very day of his death he received a letter from Judge Campbell [illegible] the proposals which the President had [illegible] to him in writing [illegible] It is true that the military power of the Confederacy is destroyed, but the spirit of the Southern people still is unbroken. If you want to conciliate them it will be wise for you to grant an amnesty, and necessary for you to treat leniently their leading public men and seek their assistance.

This was too much even for Mr Lincoln's good nature. He characterized Campbell's course as ungrateful and outrageous. Meanwhile the capitulation of Gen Lee obviated the necessity of convening the rebel legislature, and he sent an order countermanding a call. One of the President's last official acts was a deed of mercy toward his enemies. He expressly stated that he meant to give the leading confederates an opportunity to leave the country. This telegram from Portland came to Washington: "Beverly Tucker and Jacob Thompson will be here to-morrow in disguise to leave on the steamer for Europe. What shall we do?"

Mr Lincoln directed the authorities to let them go. A few hours later he fell by the assassin's bullet, and beside his bedside a member of the Cabinet countermanded that order. Fortunately for their own lives, Thompson and Tucker did not come into the United States after the conspirators had murdered the only man who could have saved them from their doom.

Mr Seward exhibits wonderful vitality, but his physicians have little hope that his mouth will ever regain its symmetry. It is likely to be awry and probably power will be lacking entirely to close the lower jaw. Several days since the Secretary, with characteristic unselfishness, wrote upon a slate: "For myself I care nothing, but the people should have been more watchful for their President. Evidence discloses that there were ten conspirators in the plot, that at a meeting held in Memphis they selected by lot the assassin of the President. Our authorities have a letter which says: 'It becomes your happy lot to destroy this tyrant. You can select the cup, the blade or the bullet, but you know the cup has once been tried, and it failed.'"

The unhappy lady—the daughter of a New England Senator—to whom Booth was affianced is plunged in profound grief, but with womanly fidelity, is slow to believe him guilty of this appalling crime and asks, with touching pathos, for evidence of his innocence. President Johnson wisely determines to show the world that in spite of this fearful tragedy, the protection of our Executive is not, even now, to be in the bayonets of a guard, but in the love and vigilance of the people. He exposes himself in public places with perfect indifference. A gentleman meeting him on Wednesday, in the parlor of the Kirkwood House asked

"Mr President, is it wise for you to thus jeopard yourself?"

He replied: "Yes. I have already been shot at twice you remember without injury. Threatened men live long." —Correspondent of the New York Tribune

JUSTICE TO STANTON.—A correspondent of the Springfield (Massachusetts) Republican, writing from Washington April 17th says:

Among the varied objects and subjects of intense interest here, among the actors and events that are continually passing before the public eye, no one has retained my own respectful attention so much as the ever working, never tiring Secretary of War. One often feels on entering the low, dingy, dusty court and ante-room of that old building that it can hardly be that this is the grand center of all the immense armada that has now astonished the world with its power, and yet how little does the country at large reflect upon the soul wearing gigantic labors that have devolved upon a single man. But, stay half an hour of any day, and place yourself in the room adjoining the Secretary's office. You will find it filled with anxious faces waiting their turn to be called in. A bell rings, one by one they [illegible] are escorted by a page to the Secretary. Still their places are filled. The room is as full as when you entered [illegible] till the hour of closing the department that room has rarely a vacant seat.

Some visitor perhaps detains the Secretary over long. The outside grows impatient. Often in order to relieve parties in waiting of the delay of form, he kindly leaves his own room, and [illegible] plants a standing desk in the anteroom among the crowd, and there without formality, and with no display, you will see [illegible] almost melancholy [illegible] face [illegible] He dispatches [illegible] with an ease that is wonderful. [illegible] old, all classes are heard and attended [illegible] loud voice of authority [illegible] answering, ordering, questioning, dictating, explaining, consoling and censuring, all the long weary days of these dreadful times.

Oregon State Fair

ANNUAL EX[illegible] 1865.

At a meeting of the Board of Managers of the State Agricultural Society lately held at Salem it was decided that a short circular be issued in [illegible] pamphlet premium list giving a summary of the proceedings of the meeting by [illegible] those who desire the [illegible] State Agricultural Society. [illegible] largely attended and a general [illegible] are successful exhibition [illegible] many changes were [illegible] the following.

1st. The [illegible] thoroughly [illegible] animals [illegible] and many [illegible]

2nd. [illegible] all the departments the cash [illegible] from fifty to seventy five [illegible] be dispensed with.

3rd. [illegible] tickets (allowing [illegible] the privileges of the grounds) [illegible] was placed at $2 50 [illegible] for gentlemen $1 00; single [illegible] $1 00; ladies and children [illegible]

4th. No charge is made for license to sell [illegible] near the enclosure [illegible] experiment of last year demonstrating that [illegible] only served to drive away healthy competition, and consequently to insure [illegible] and dissatisfaction to the patrons of the fair.

5th. A programme for the exercises of the exhibition was ordered to be prepared and will soon be published, thereby enabling all to make complete arrangements and thus prevent confusion and delay.

6th. Special rules and regulations were adopted [illegible] the annual election of officers to be held during the Fair and which we think will favor all who desire an opportunity to manifest [illegible] in the selection of officers.

7th. In many classes the awarding Committee was largely increased thereby insuring less of dissatisfaction and partiality in the awards.

8th. The 3d, 4th, 5th and 6th days of October, were fixed for holding the Fair.

9th. The President was instructed to contract with responsible parties for a quantity of silver plate at the lowest cash rate, per ounce, to be distributed as premiums at the Fair when parties prefer it. It will be understood that no one is compelled to receive it, but when accepted, the name or names will be engraved thereon, thus giving all an opportunity if desired, to obtain a substantial token of successful competition.

Heretofore in many of the departments, and in articles of great value and importance to the country awards have been given by diploma, or, at best nominal premiums which offered no encouragement either for manufacture or competition. Agricultural implements we may mention [illegible] At the last Fair only $10 was offered for threshers and reapers, and but $5 for mowers. The Society this year, offer $50 for the best thresher, $30 for second; $40 for best reaper, $20 for second; $30 for best mowers, $20 for second; $4 for best plow, $10 for second, best horse rake, iron, revolving and riding $20, $15; grain sower $5, $10, and in proportion to the cost of transportation and value of articles the increase over last year will correspond.

In addition to the above premiums for articles of home manufacture, the Society offer for imported threshers first premium $15, for second 10; reapers $10, $5; mowers, $10, $05, plow, $5, $3.

In Class 7—domestic manufactures—when not more than $20 in money has been offered heretofore the society this year offer premiums amounting to over $100, and in many instances allowing more than the articles would bring in any market on this coast. This rule and proportion, however, will hold good in Class 9—home work—in Class 6—grains, seeds, vegetables, dairy, &c., and in Class 8—natural history, mining products and arts. Beside these and among the many new features $50 is offered ($25 second) to the best stock farm not less than 200 acres with statement how conducted; also, $25 to the best farm not less than 25 acres, with a statement how cultivated.

But while endeavoring by this greatly increased list for articles of home manufacture and products of the farm to encourage a corresponding effort on the part of those interested, and a substantial return to the society, we have not forgotten the stock raiser. Additional premiums are offered on swine, by classing Berkshire, Essex and Suffolk, and for sheep by addition of awards for Oxfordshire, Leicestershire, Cotswold and American Merino.

Especial attention was also given to the horse department, and besides largely increasing the premiums, stringent rules were adopted to govern the trials of speed, by which the jockey and trainer, heretofore in too many instances monopolizing the track and in other ways preventing a fair and equal contest, will be required to compete with the farmer and less favored opponents on terms calculated to test the real value of animals entered for premiums. But while the awards in this class and particularly the speed department, have been increased, we desire it to be borne in mind that it has been in proportion only to the increase in other departments, and not altogether to encourage horse racing, as many will be ready to assert.

As far as possible selections for awarding committees have been made from counties not represented, but as some for good and sufficient reasons will be unable to serve, we intend that vacancies shall be supplied from counties neglected at the proper time. Persons whose names appear in the pamphlet edition of the Premium List, when notified by the Corresponding Secretary are earnestly requested to inform him by letter or otherwise as to their conclusions in the matter so that vacancies may be supplied and all necessary arrangements completed.

At the meeting letters were received and read from prominent citizens of Jackson, Lane, Clackamas, Polk and Linn giving encouragement to the Board and assurance that if properly conducted the annual exhibition will find generous patrons from those sections this fall.

We assure you, friends and the people of Oregon, that to this time we have labored earnestly to secure a successful exhibition, and more we will double our diligence during the fair, and until that time to carry out the arrangements already made. Our efforts for the society should be well rewarded, and we urge its friends throughout the State to lend their influence and support that the annual Fair of 1865 may prove not only one of interest and pleasure to its patrons but a credit to the State.

In conclusion, while many of the obstacles in the way of a successful exhibition last year have been removed, we [illegible] we wish it clearly understood that [illegible] the failure and disappointments of 1864 [illegible] the present board of managers.

For the Board of Managers

The corresponding Secretary is instructed to forward a copy of this circular to each of the papers in the State and we respectfully request its publication and the cooperation of the press in the efforts being made for the Oregon State Agricultural Society.

The Charleston Courier of April 17th says that while the printers in its office were putting Mr Beecher's Fort Sumter speech in type they were visited by William Lloyd Garrison who stepped up to the case and set the following paragraph:

"There is scarcely a man born in the South who has lifted his hand against this banner but had a father who would have died for it. Is memory dead? Is there no historic pride? Has a fatal fury struck blindness or hate into eyes that used to look kindly towards each other, that read the same Bible, that hung over the historic pages of our national glory, that studied the same constitution?"

ALLEN'S
LUNG BALSAM!
The Remedy for Curing
CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,
[illegible]
[illegible] and all [illegible]
ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, [illegible] one of the most [illegible] remedies known for curing [illegible] of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and [illegible] the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; [illegible] the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and [illegible] effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction, even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most [illegible]) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time.

LILLIE'S LOCK OPENED
In One Minute.
New York, September 8, 1864.
F. TILMAN, Esq., 213 Battery street,
Between Commercial and Clay, San Francisco.
DEAR SIR: WE NOTICE AN ADvertisement in your daily papers [illegible] the "security" of the "Lillie" lock. We are aware that you well understand this lock, and, of course, will not allow yourself to be annoyed by such [illegible] We have just sent for one of our men at the factory, and he, in our presence, opened one of Lillie's best safe locks, after it had been locked and the combination turned on,
By One Blow of the Hammer
Against the knob on the outside, and thereby breaking the cast iron bolt inside.
The whole time occupied in opening the lock was about ONE MINUTE. We send you this lock that your friends may not be deceived by false representations, etc.
Respectfully etc.,

OROGRANDE, March 26, 1864.
Messrs TILTON & McFARLAND,
Safe Manufacturers, Boston, Mass.
Gentlemen: From [illegible] made by Mr. Lillie, I was induced to purchase of him one of his
So Called "Fire Proof Safes."
On the 18th of February last, a fire occurred in our block which destroyed a number of [illegible] and our own with the rest. We trusted our Books, [illegible] and all in the safe. After the fire the so-called "safe" was taken from the ruins, and on opening it we found that Everything had been Destroyed.
We send you the safe, with what is left of the papers, and you will see that not one of them is legible or strong enough to sustain its own weight. Having the curiosity to know how our neighbors fared in this fire, we noticed McKenzie & Hardy just opening their safe (TILTON & McFARLAND'S make) and its contents were found to be In Perfect Order.
This led us to further investigation, and we found to our astonishment that from the large amount of combustible material in [illegible] McK. & H.'s cellar—such as lard, pork, etc., their safe was subjected to a much greater heat than that of our own, we being in the clothing business and had but little in the cellar. [illegible] another of Lillie's safes here subjected to the same fire faring, however, no better than ours.
Very respectfully,
Your obedient servants,
(Signed:) GEO. L. [illegible] & CO

Prevention Better than Cure.
The newly invented Patent French Safe, a sure Preventive against Disease and Pregnancy, sent by mail. Price $2. Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 617 Kearney St., near Commercial, San Francisco. Postoffice Box 257.
Caution to the Unfortunate.
Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, news paper carriers, intelligence office [illegible] etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupation in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets; for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Doctor Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Doctor Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat disease that he proposes to cure.
